

February 09, 2026: For the Record

I am continuing to experience additional 'kidnapping threats' against my own home and continuous acoustic intrusions into my life by forces that I identify to directly relate to Donald John Trump, the President of the United States of America.

My computer was frozen in real time when I attempted to write a message earlier.

I am advising everyone that this same team (Donald Trump's team) is not only 'taking credit' for the events of today, but are also using these events to threaten me with 'reminder imaging' from the threats that I received last week.

I am confidently expressing this information publicly because they are so blatantly disrespectful to our home and are so aggressively agitating me to offer up some sort of 'response.'

MY response is very clear: Donald Trump's team is a team of terrorists and they are attempting to spread terror and fear across a number of different populations for their own political gain.

They are using high-profile events that are seemingly 'random' in order to maximize the effects of their evil work product.

The more I write and the more I spread their terror, the more pleased they seem to become.

Please take this advice and information to heart as I am certain that you, too, are enduring some form of serious obstacle in your own life.

The people that are causing these 'snares' and these 'traps' are delighting in their ability to spy on us while we are 29, Enduring Obstacles.

The purpose of my writing is to warn others of the dangers, and of possible methods to help themselves and others.

I hope that this information can be helpful to you in whatever problems you are currently enduring in your own life.
